

Employee Recruitment Workshop

For many employers in and around Calgary, the labour shortage has led to increasing difficulty in recruiting workers. To help businesses manage this highly competitive labour market, this workshop will present strategies to assist employers in finding and recruiting the employees they need through the use of positive planning and effective practices.

Businesses at any stage of employee recruitment planning are invited to this session to learn more about how to find and recruit the talent they need. This is a chance for your business to review its current recruitment practices and learn new strategies through sharing and discussion.

The aim of this interactive workshop is to increase your knowledge of effective recruitment practices and resources that can assist your business in managing the labour shortage. It is also an opportunity for you to share ideas with fellow employers, and access additional resources.
